

BLANTON FAINTS AFTER CENSURE

All His Bravado Disappears Under Scathing Denunciation of Speaker.

Washington, D. C.—The house on Friday, by a vote of 233 to 113, rejected the resolution to expel Representative Thomas L. Blanton of Texas for "obscene" and "indecent" matter placed in the congressional record on Oct. 22. Although eight votes were needed to obtain the required two-thirds vote for expulsion, another resolution censuring him for the offense was passed by a vote of 233 to 6.

Three Wisconsin members voted against the expulsion of Blanton. They were Stanford, Wright and John M. Nelson. The other eight, including P. Nelson, Enoch, Brown, Fearn, Lampert, Kleczka, Closson and Cooper, voted for expulsion.

After hearing his colleagues condemn his act for three hours, Blanton, escorted by the sergeant at arms, walked slowly and sadly to the bar of the house. There the speaker in solemn tones publicly censured him for his act for three hours. Blanton stood under the gaze of the gallery and of the house. Blanton turned ashen and almost ran from the floor when the speaker had completed the sentence.

Blanton faints in the corridor he fell exhausted, striking his head on the marble floor. He rested a few minutes on a couch, refused medical aid and shuffled to his office. The tears ran down his face as he forced his way between spectators and members, who were leaving the building at the conclusion of the session.

The bravado and men of a bigot, which had marked his hour's defense early in the day, was absent as he

Girl, Shot by Rejected Lover, Dies of Wounds

McGregor, Ia.—Cecil Kersten, 23, daughter of a prominent Clayton county farmer, died at her home Thursday afternoon from shotgun wounds inflicted by Peter Kleihow, who is held on a murder charge.

Jealousy and the fact that Miss Kersten broke her engagement with Mr. Hays and recently are ascribed as the causes. The shooting took place in the yard of the girl's home. Kleihow fired a shot at her and Harvey Kass, a former lover, through the window of the Kersten home. They were only slightly injured.

The girl then rushed to the yard, where Kleihow met her and fired again at close range. Then Kleihow rushed up the girl and carried her into the house. Placing her on a couch, he is said to have knelt down beside her, declaring:

"I said I would pay you if you didn't give me another chance. If I can't have you myself nobody else is going to."

HAYS SHAKEN UP IN COLLISION OF TRAINS

New York—Postmaster General Hays and a score of passengers on the mid-night express of the Pennsylvania lines for Washington were badly shaken up early Friday morning, when the express crashed in a heavy fog, into the rear of a local train at the Manhattan Transfer in New Jersey.

Pennsylvania officials declared there were no serious injuries. Mr. Hays and other passengers were brought back to New York. A physician said, the postmaster general, aside from some strained muscles and a general shaking up, had suffered no harm.

LEGAL NOTICES.
NOTICE OF HEARING.
STATE OF WISCONSIN, County Court for Rock County, In Probate.

Notice is hereby given that at a Regular Term of the County Court, to be held in and for said County, at the Court House, in the City of Janesville, in said County, on the first Tuesday, being the 13th day of December, 1921, at nine o'clock a. m., the following Notice to lay lateral sewers or drains, water and gas services on Ringold street from Rugar avenue to Racine street, So. Second street from Ringold street to Fremont street, Sherman avenue from Prairie avenue to Milton avenue, and from Milton avenue to So. Second street to Bluff street.

Published by order of the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Janesville, Wisconsin, October 17th, 1921.

To Whom It May Concern:
The Council of the City of Janesville having on the 17th day of October, 1921, adopted a resolution, requiring the laying of lateral sewers or drains and water and gas service pipes, from the main sewer, water and gas mains to the curb line on each side of Ringold street from Rugar Avenue to Racine Street; So. Second Street from Ringold Street to Fremont Street; Sherman Avenue from Prairie Avenue to Milton Avenue, and Fourth Avenue from Main Street to Bluff Street, at the cost of the property fronting thereon, and in accordance with the plans and specifications adopted therefor.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that said plans and specifications are on file in my office showing the location, size and kind and quality of material required for the construction of such lateral sewers or drains and water and gas service pipes, and that the owners or occupants of the lots and parcels of land or parcels of land adjoining said streets or streets ordered paved are required to do such work, complete their respective lots, parts of lots, or parcels of land according to said plans and specifications; and if said owners or occupants shall refuse or neglect to do the same before the paving of such streets in front of said property and within ten days after the publication of this notice, the Board of Public Works will procure the same to be done and charge and assess the expense thereof to the lots, parts of lots, or parcels of land fronting upon such work in the manner provided in and by Sections 925-929 of the Wisconsin Statutes.

THE SOCIAL CHRONICLE

SOCIAL EVENTS

SATURDAY, OCT. 29.
Morning—
Pierce-Dunne wedding at St. Patrick's church.

P-T Halloween Party.—Parents and friends of the children of the St. Patrick's school are invited to attend the Halloween party which will be given by the Parent-Teachers' association in the high school hall Friday night. A program will be given, all sorts of games played and refreshments served.

Young People Meet.—A Halloween party was enjoyed at the Johnson home, 1113 Wheeler street, Thursday night by the members and friends of the Young People's Society of the St. Peter's Lutheran church. Two readings were given by Miss Ruth Nygard, several songs by Roy and Oscar. The Jensen and games were played. The room was decorated with autumn leaves, boughs being placed along the ceiling. The lights placed behind the leaves gave a weird effect and added to the Halloween atmosphere. Guests all came in costumes. A buffet lunch was served.

Mrs. Oliver Entertains.—Mrs. Frank Oliver, 817 Sherman avenue, gave an evening party at her home Thursday in honor of the birthday of George W. Smith, 1420 Elizabeth street. Cards were played and at 10:30 the 15 guests were seated at a beautiful table decorated with autumn leaves, pumpkins and candles. Place cards and favors in the Halloween colors added to the beauty. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Barker and son, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. L. Baldwin and daughter, Janet, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Stafford and son, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Falk and son, and Mrs. W. Dolanier.

Annual Party Tonight.—The Junior-Senior party, an annual affair given by the Junior class for the members of the Junior class, will take place in the high school gymnasium Friday night. No efforts have been spared in the decorations and they are said to be the best in years. A program will be presented, and dancing and refreshments will add to the enjoyment of the occasion.

Community Club Meets.—The regular meeting of the Rock River Community club was held Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Paul Hule on the river road. The afternoon was spent in sewing on clothing and a supper next week. Fourteen guests were was served. The next meeting will be held Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Frank Kersten, Madison road, in entertaining.

Hard Times Social.—A hard time social to which all are invited, is to be given Friday night at the home of Mrs. Frank Kersten, Madison road, of Mrs. Frank Kersten, Madison road.

Arrangements for Supper.—Arrangements for the chicken pie supper, that will be given by the Service Star Legion at the Baptist church Nov. 3, were made at the meeting of the legion with Mrs. Anna Morris, West Milwaukee street. Thursday night, Mrs. Emma Burke will have charge of the supper. Mrs. Sadie Carman will have charge of the dining room and Mrs. Tillie Lott of the kitchen. The public is invited.

Halloween Social Friday.—Invitations to the Halloween social to be given by the Parent-Teachers' association of the Jefferson school in the kindergarten room, Friday night, have been extended to include all. No charge will be made.

Miss Rice Has Club.—Miss Hazel Rice, Route 8, entertained the members of the Girls' sewing club, Thursday night, at her home. Sewing occupied the evening and a late lunch was served.

Literary Society Meets.—The first meeting of the Literary society of the Janesville high school, recently organized, was held after school Thursday with an attendance of 15. Officers were elected as follows: President, Delva Sorenson; vice-president, Everett Howard; secretary, Maudie Curme; in school, "Life of Whittier" by Robert O'Connell; and "So Was I" a reading by Delva Sorenson. Faculty members were present.

Juniors Have Party.—The Juniors of the U. B. church with Ellen Fisher as superintendent and Alice Schultz as president, gave a Halloween party Tuesday afternoon from 4-5 in the church parlors. About 50 attended and enjoyed games and refreshments. The room was decorated with Jack O'Lanterns and other Halloween decorations.

Mrs. Weich Has Tea.—Mrs. Maudie Weich, Sinclair street, was hostess Thursday afternoon at a five o'clock tea. She entertained in honor of her sister, Miss Winifred Granger, whose marriage to Sidney Boswick will take place next week. Fourteen guests were seated at one table made attractive with the Halloween decorations with favors. A basket of yellow and red dahlias occupied the center of the table. The place and tally cards were in the same colors. Miss Josephine Carl and Miss Norma Ryan won prizes at bridge in the evening. A special gift was presented to Miss Granger.

Theta Nus Meet.—Members of the Theta Nu club of high school young women met Wednesday night with Miss Bessie Koest, Clark street. Initiation was held and a luncheon served.

With Miss Earle.—Members of the Blue Bird Hiking club are meeting after school Friday with Miss Earle, Jefferson avenue. A supper will be served.

Surprised on Anniversary.—Mr. and Mrs. E. Klausch, Johnson street, were surprised by Mr. and Mrs. William Baumann, Jackson street, on their 25th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. York Has Club.—Mrs. James York, 318 Center avenue, invited the members of a card club to her home Thursday afternoon. At bridge, the prizes were taken by Mrs. J. Tuite and Mrs. D. Morrissey. At five o'clock chicken supper was served. Places were laid for 15. Large bouquets of mixed flowers in the beautiful colorings of fall were used on the table and about the home.

Have Box Social.—Large numbers of Knights of Pythias and their friends are expected at the box social and dance to be held in the hall Friday night.

Last Game of Season.—The last Thursday afternoon bridge game of the season was played at the Country club yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Anna Baker had charge and awarded the prizes to Mrs. John Grubb, Los Angeles, Cal., who has been spending the summer in Janesville and Mrs. Emma Carpenter. This parties this summer and fall have been very successful and under the management of Mrs. T. S. Nolan and different women each week have provided a great deal of amusement for card lovers. Twenty-two parties have been given. Prizes were awarded by the club at each meeting, the hostess also helping pay for them. As a charge of 25 cents for each week was made, a sum of $112 was raised altogether, which will be used, by vote of the members, for improvements in the club house. A new entrance to the club house, with a cover in case of rain, was talked of and it was decided to confer with the directors and officers of the club.

Mrs. Sloan Entertains.—Mrs. Maudie E. Sloan, Cullen Apartments,

Milwaukee avenue, entertained at a one o'clock luncheon Thursday. The guests were invited to meet Mrs. Charles Caldwell, Nashville, Tenn., who is spending some time in the city. The table decorations were carried out with Halloween favors and dahlias. Bridge was played in the afternoon, the prizes going to Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. J. L. Boswick and Mrs. Stanley B. Smith.

Pierce-Dunne Wedding.—The marriage of Mrs. Adeline M. Pierce, Grand hotel, and George W. Dunne, Beloit, will take place at 3:15 Saturday morning at St. Patrick's church with Dean J. P. Ryan officiating.

For Miss Granger.—Mrs. Eber Arthur, North Garfield avenue, has given out invitations for a one o'clock luncheon for Monday, complimentary to Miss Winifred Granger, a bride-to-be of early November.

Plan Series of Parties.—A series of card parties is being planned by officers of the Jefferson Parent-Teachers' association to take place during the winter. These parties, which are being planned by Mrs. David Holmes and Mrs. T. S. Nolan, will be given to raise money to purchase a moving picture machine for the school. The first party will be given at the George McKee home Thursday, Nov.

Ask the man who owns one

You remember the story of the Pitcher—

It made a good many trips to the well and it came back in good order.

"I can take care of myself," it said—"they don't need to talk about risks to me."

But it went once too often.

After that it was only part of a pitcher, and they didn't need to talk to it about risks—it knew.

A lot of people won't believe coffee can harm them until it does harm them.

"Nonsense!" they say, "it never disturbs me."

When it does disturb them, then they know.

Often the disturbance which they then recognize is the result of irritations to nerves and digestion which have been going on for a long time.

If you have to lie awake at night and count the clock ticks, after an evening cup of coffee, then you know that it's better to be safe than sorry.

The risk of coffee's harm is gone when the meal-time drink is Postum.

Here's a delightful and satisfying table beverage, with charm for the taste and without harm for nerves or digestion. You know you're on the right road with Postum; there's never the possibility that you'll go once too often.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

FOOTVILLE PEOPLE AT REVIVAL MEET HERE

"The Church at Work" was the topic of the Rev. Emmett Snyder's address at the revivalist meeting at the First Christian church Thursday night, one of a series to last several weeks. The services were attended by more than 100 members of the Church of Christ, Footville, and Rev. G. K. Smith, pastor of that church, gave the prayer. A city-wide campaign for 500 bible school members by Nov. 6 was announced at Thursday's meeting. The subject for Friday night will be "The Greatest Word and What It Is Saying."

Buy Shoes to Fit Feet, Not Mind--Brouwer

People have been buying shoes to fit the mind instead of the feet, thus causing a great deal of the ailments attributed to other sources declared S. J. Brouwer, Milwaukee, noted foot specialist, speaking at the high school Friday morning. Mr. Brouwer is here under auspices of the Y. M. C. A. to wind up the Health week program which it has been conducting.

High heeled shoes worn by women throw the whole line of their bodies out of place and tight shoes stop the circulation, he said. He urged the children and grownups to go barefooted in the summer as a means of developing strong and healthy feet. He also cautioned against bathing the feet too frequently.

He offered some simple suggestions tending toward the proper development of the feet. The toe of the shoe should be pulled out an inch and a half and doubled over the top before putting on the shoe. This allows plenty of room for the toes when one starts to walk.

"There is no need for knock-knees, bow-legs, pigeon toes and other troubles of this nature as they can be cured if the child's feet are properly fitted during the growing period," Mr. Brouwer declared. "We have been selling shoes to fit the mind, instead of the feet. The shoe manufacturers intend to correct this if the public will allow them."

Mr. Brouwer will speak at the Y. M. C. A. at 4 p. m. Friday and at 7 p. m. on the subject of feet. Miss Helen Goodspeed, Madison, will speak on "Emotions." Women are invited.

Three Auto Mishaps Near Lake Geneva

Lake Geneva.—A man and woman were injured near Barrington, Ill., when the Chicago and Northwestern railway train, due in Lake Geneva at 5:20 p. m. from Chicago, struck an automobile in which they were riding. Latest reports say neither was seriously hurt.

A truck driven by two Lake Geneva young men, whose names could not be learned, crashed into an automobile in which E. C. Dodge, his daughter, Rae, and Mrs. Ellen Vaughn, Springfield, were riding, just south of Springfield.

One of the men in the truck was thrown out and slightly injured. Both cars were wrecked.

State Senator Claire B. Bird, Waukegan, ran into a large truck while driving near Lake Geneva. He was not hurt.

ACTING YARDMASTER

INJURED ABOUT EAR

Narrowly escaping a crushed head, John McCarthy, acting yardmaster on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway here was painfully bruised and lacerated on the left ear Thursday afternoon. Mr. McCarthy stuck his head out of the door of box car just as a Britlingham & Hixson truck, pushing against it, closed the door upon his head.

Although McCarthy was out Friday, he was unable to return to work. His place is being filled by Charles Kruse, Yardmaster C. J. Richter, who has been ill for some time, will return to duty Saturday.

CHAPTER LX. A LAST CHANCE

Yet I still hesitated. No one knew of the new apartment but Win. It was not too late to break it all up, and stay as I was. I wavered, and wavered, and changed my mind again and again.

Meanwhile things grew worse between Win and myself. I think now it was a mutual constraint. We never came together without expecting friction, and I suppose that, put us in the mood where more friction was inevitable.

"The Maradons have asked us to dine next Monday," I said one afternoon when Win came in to dress for dinner.

He paused on his way through the room.

"Do you want to go?" he asked.

"I suppose we must," he would want to, once in a while.

"We see a lot of the Maradons. I can't say they interest me. I am busy on some work I am doing. I am busy on some work I am doing. I am busy on some work I am doing."

"Oh, please let's not quarrel every time we see each other," I answered wearily. "The work happens to be something for one of Mrs. Maradon's children, and the dinner is in honor of her rides. I'm one of the aides. I don't see why we always quarrel. I don't mean to."

"I'm sure I never meant to. You begin it."

"Only when you say something mean or nasty. Win, let's make a bargain not to quarrel any more."

"I turned toward him, thinking that perhaps even now we might make up. He was standing with his hand on the door leading into his bedroom. He never moved as I walked toward him."

"I'll make all the bargains you want. I never start the quarreling. I know we don't get along anymore. Somehow I always want to say mean things when I am with you. I seem to attract you the same way."

"Win," I said suddenly, "would you be happier if we were not living together?"

"If you want to leave me, you are at perfect liberty to do so," he said finally. "I'll give you any allowance you think right. Then heaven, I'm making enough to do that. I suppose living apart would be better than seeing each other every day, feeling the way we do."

To me that sounded like a dismissal. I felt cold all over, and waiting. It was the end then! He was taking my suggestion eagerly. He wanted me to go! Very well, I would. There was nothing else to do.

I turned away and walked back to the table so he could not see my face. "It's too bad we could not make it go. I don't know of many happy marriages, but I thought ours would be different from the others."

"It would have been, if you would only do some of the things I wanted. You've nothing expected of you except to dress well and go about as an entertainer. That's little enough to ask of a woman."

"But don't you see, that's what I don't like! I like—worthwhile things. This is so useless!"

"It happens to be what I expect of you. I lived your way—last summer in the country. You know how awful that was."

There seemed no answer. I waited to hear his door close. But he spoke again.

"I'm going off with the Rawleys on a party. If you like to come, it's a casual affair and I can make out."

I thought of the Rawleys—Mr. Rawley who talked of the way he made money and Mrs. Rawley who used an inch of make-up and talked of how she spent money. We would be going to another—and I was tired. I could not do it.

"If it's a casual affair, drop out and stay home tonight—just this one evening. We might come to some agreement if we talked this over."

It was my last chance. I pictured an evening at home, where we really might forget, and make up our differences.

"Sorry," Win's voice came evenly. "I'm afraid we would only quarrel again. We agree best when there are other people around." The door closed.

Presently I heard him moving about his room. Later the door leading into the hall way opened. Win was going out. Then the hall door closed and there was silence. He had gone out for dinner.

I went into my room and began pulling out things from all the drawers. I rang for Bill to bring in my trunk and packed in every thing I could, thinking only to get my possessions in as fast as possible. Then I sent for a taxi, and taking a trunk and some bags, and carrying Ellen to the rest after me, I went to the little apartment I had furnished.

Its door closed behind me with a clang—I was alone, alone to face the gossip-ah! now! Saturday—The Talk

BEAUTY CHATS by Edna Kent Forbes

EXERCISING THE FACE

A little while ago we were talking of exercise and massage as a means of strengthening the muscles of the face, and therefore of keeping the face young. I recommended rubbing the skin with cream as a lubricant and then rubbing the face vigorously with the palm of the hand.

With the cream on the skin this massage is so easily done that the muscles are in no sense pulled or strained while there is sufficient friction to bring the blood up to the face and to rejuvenate the skin.

There are a few other exercises which you quite literally do with your face. One of them is to pucker up the lips as though you were blowing out a distant candle. Blow hard, take exercise as this should not be neglected.

Hazel D.—The Castor oil in the pilocarpine tonic will not make the hair oily, as there are other ingredients in the formula to counteract the oil.

Naomi—Hair that is destroyed by the electric needle will never grow again, but this does not mean that you will never have any more beautiful hair for whatever caused it once. If repeated, it will make it happen again, though it will not be the same growth. If you mean that your eyes are shadowy and have always been so, there is no reason to suppose this condition indicates any internal disorders. It is probably an attraction that is as natural to you as dimples are to others.

Poached Eggs in Potatoes—Bake potatoes till tender. Cut in halves lengthwise and scoop out inside. Rub through sieve, add one tablespoon white sauce, salt, pepper. Line shells of potatoes with this. Put in layer of sauce, sprinkle with cheese and upon this place a poached egg. Sprinkle all with cheese and brown in oven.

Pear Salad—Chop stewed pears with bananas, grapes and nuts. Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise.

The chin muscles can be strengthened by exercise.

a deep breath of air and repeat, and repeat again 25 or 30 times. This tends to fill out hollow cheeks. It strengthens the muscles around the mouth, avoids the ugly wrinkles that run from the nose to the chin and, incidentally, it is the only exercise I know of that will improve the shape of the lips.

Of course if you have wrinkles, hollow cheeks and a divided shaped mouth, this exercise won't instantly make you beautiful. The things we do to improve our looks are always little things and their effects cannot be immediately seen. Sometimes the result seems so little that we do not notice them at all. Yet each thing we do to improve ourselves counts enormously in improving the general appearance. Even so small an ex-

GET READY FOR THE BIRD HOUSE CONTEST NOW

Last spring there was no Bird House building contest by the Gazette. Instead we had the birds themselves. But this year we will have a contest among the boys and girls of the whole territory in which the Gazette circulates for the best bird houses. The contest will be divided into three sections: residence and age of entrants so that all may have a chance. Boys and girls from 18 years down will be eligible.

Now is the time to think about it. Plan for it, and make a bird house that will either win a prize or get honorable mention. During the winter some time, the Gazette will print articles on making bird houses and beginning early in November there will appear each Saturday articles on "TOOL CRAFT" which will be invaluable to every boy and girl.

THE TIME TO BEGIN ON THE BIRD HOUSE CONTEST IS NOW.

Romanesque

Occasionally in writing these brief stories one finds about the time the story is begun, it is time to stop. The limit of approximately five hundred and fifty words makes it compulsory never to wander from the subject, never to put in a single stroke that will not contribute to an enlightening sketch. Even now we are considering whether the foregoing words should not be stricken out as extraneous.

Sparkling effect is what we are after, and if we only could find her, and dare hire her, a comely and saucy young woman, an amanuensis might be a surprising help. Here in this study she would sit where the light from the Oriental lamp would fall best on her soft forehead, impudent eyes, tempting mouth and exquisite feet—and on her note book too. While her capable fingers were busy recording our dictation, we should be saying:

"It is hard to think composedly with you sitting there... so obstinately tantalizing, and sweet... and as young as twenty-two... and old enough to blush willingly... and our employer!... Gosh! You're more thrilling than a lot of theatres... Don't write any of that!... No, hum. Now we shall begin... Make the title 'Romanesque,' for this will be something frothy light and amorous... with just enough incense in it to carry an unanchored reader up through pink and peachy clouds that he hasn't time to imagine for himself... 'Look here, girl. Stop your flirting... we never will begin.'"

"We must have no distractions. You are here for working purposes... 'Alright. Title, 'Romanesque.' Now begin—But why so disconsolate?..."

"Look here, girl. Stop your flirting... we never will begin."

"We must have no distractions. You are here for working purposes."

"Alright. Title, 'Romanesque.' Now begin—But why so disconsolate?..."

"Look here, girl. Stop your flirting... we never will begin."

No, don't write that!... You look so heart-broken... please say you are not offended... not for the world would we cause you pain... come; let's shake hands... your warm little hand so diligent in our service... lucky fellow to be the boss of you... it makes us excited to think of it... Umh. Now for business.

"Begin: 'Romanesque.' Twenty-two years was the feathery weight of age her slender feet carried so lightly that her progress was as effortless as airy as a maiden yacht in a spanking breeze. Twenty-two years old—but oh, so knowing! Two years, the last two years, as a stenographer, had completed her course in the life school of navigation. She was now able to explore any rough coast-line confident that she could doge into a port of security whenever she was in trouble. And her name was Elsie."

"You don't mind my using your name?... Wait—that wasn't dictation... Yes-s-s, I did use your name too, and your job, and something else, or other about you... Well, why can't I write about you?... Ah, child, if it were only ethical for a stenographer to sit in her employer's arms—there goes the old telephone—Hello. Yes. How are you? Alright. Very good... It's my wife... She'll be here in five minutes... We'll just hold 'Romanesque' over for another day and get busy on a detective story."

OLD HOME TOWN PAPER WEEK. H. C. Hotelling, Secretary of the National Editorial Association, proposes that the country newspapers designate the week of November 7-12 as "Old Home Town Paper Week." The country newspaper boasts every project which has for its purpose the betterment of the community. It devotes its space generally to the various "weeklies" that are promoted during the year without thought of its own interest. In return for the service rendered why should it not devote one week out of fifty-two to its own fortunes? Local merchants know that the more readers the paper has the more goods they will sell. It is to their interest, therefore, to help increase its circulation. If, during "Old Home Town Paper Week," the business men of the town will help, get now subscribers it would be a big boost for the paper and, incidentally, a big help to the town itself.—Editor and Publisher.

Why make an all day job of washing clothes

When this new soap product soaks them clean in a few hours

ARE you still bending over the washboard in the middle of the day—rubbing away your strength?

Or do you have your clothes ready for the line an hour after breakfast?

Hundreds of thousands of women who used to take all day to do their family washing are gaining time and storing up strength for the things they really want to do by soaking their clothes clean in Rinso.

This new soap product, made by the makers of Lux, is a perfect combination of pure cleansing materials that loosen and dissolve the dirt from even the heaviest pieces of the weekly wash without injuring a single fabric. You do not have to rub anything but the worst spots such as cuff edges, and these only lightly.

Don't rub your youth away. Get Rinso today from your grocer or any department store. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Dissolve: For each tub of clothes thoroughly dissolve a half package of Rinso in two quarts of boiling water. When water is hard or clothes extra dirty use more Rinso.

Pour into tub of lukewarm water, mix well. Keep adding the solution until you get a good, rich, lasting, soapy suds, even after the clothes have been put in.

Then let your clothes soak and rinse without any hard rubbing—Soak one hour—two hours—overnight—any time is convenient. These wonderful, mild suds loosen every particle of dirt. Rinso, to remove the loosened dirt, till water runs clear.

Quotation Here—But ter Going Up.

Prices on eggs, taking a sudden jump, are again reaching war levels. During the last three weeks there has been a noticeable increase in the city and country markets. Eggs are up accordingly until now the bottom price is 50 cents a dozen with many stores forced to sell for 55 and higher. Butters are also going up but not in proportion to eggs. Prices on that commodity now range from 45 to 55 cents per pound.

Few fruits are seen in the market now, apples predominating. Although earlier in the season, no scarcity is seen in the local markets. Grocery store windows are filled high with them. Best eating apples bring 15 and 15 cents per pound, other eating apples 10, and cooking 3 and 10 cents per pound. The varieties are numerous. By the barrel they bring $5 and higher and by the bushel all the way from $2.10 to $2.50, depending on variety.

Paying for the Home
Up to two years ago my money all went to doctors and medicine for my stomach trouble. I was constantly filled with gas and no medicine helped me permanently until I tried a bottle of Resinol. Wonderful remedy at that time with excellent results. Now I am using my money in paying for a home. It is a simple harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal cause from the intestinal tract and allows the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis, to disappear. Resinol is sold everywhere. People's Drug Co. and druggists everywhere.

Why ointments and ointments do not give you quick and lasting relief?
Do you know the cause of piles is internal?
That there is a stagnation of blood in the lower bowel?
Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy discovered by Dr. Leonard and known as HEM-RID, now sold by druggists generally, that is guaranteed to give you quick and lasting relief by freeing blood circulation in the lower bowel. This simple home treatment has an almost unbelievable record for sure, safe and lasting relief to thousands of pile sufferers, and has costless pain and expense of an operation. There is no reason why it should not do the same for you.

"MADE IN GERMANY"
TOYS SEEN AGAIN
FOR HOLIDAY TRADE
For the first time since before the war with Germany, American children in Janesville and other cities will have toys with the formerly familiar "Made in Germany" mark upon them, according to J. R. Nichols, local merchant.

The reason lies in the fact that American toy companies employing American labor, cannot compete with German-made toys which are sold at a cheaper and consequently can underbid America's for the children's trade.

There will also be toys from Japan. During the war, when Germany's goods were not being sold here, Japan became a more familiar mark on the toys. According to Mr. Nichols, they put one over on the American public because the toys were made mostly by Germans in the prison camps of Japan.

remain on the market and still find good selling. They bring 12 and 15 cents per pound, sell in places for 15 cents for large quantities. Other prices on oranges predominate in the market—55, 65 and 75 cents per dozen, while lemons cost 40 and 50 cents per dozen. Grapefruit becomes more plentiful weekly and can now be purchased for 8, 10 and a shilling each.

Pumpkins, at low prices of 10, 15 and 20 cents each, find a ready sale as soon as they appear on the market. "Kiddies" are promised plenty of Jack O' Lanterns for Sunday or Monday night, while older folks will take advantage of the low prices by buying pumpkins. Prices on squash remain the same, 10, 15 and 20 cents each, while the tomatoes coming from the south and west sell for 15 cents per pound.

Cranberries drop little in price and indications are that they will sell for the same, 19 and 20 cents per pound, around Thanksgiving. Celery varies in size and in price from 8 to 12 cents, while peppers now sell for 5 cents and two for 5. Carrots cost 3 and 5 cents per pound and are being sold by the bunch in some places. Beans are 5 cents a bunch, while radishes, which were seen on the market a week or two ago, have disappeared. Spanish onions cost a penny a pound, while some green onions are obtainable at a shilling a bunch. Cucumbers are coming in from the hot-houses and are bringing 17 cents each, where they are handled. Heads of lettuce are 20 cents and the lot costs 25 cents a pound. Wax and green beans sell for 15 and 20 cents per pound, potatoes for 38 and 45 cents a bushel, and sweet potatoes for 8 and 8 cents a pound. Turnips are 4 cents a pound.

Oysters continue to remain high, selling from 70 to 80 cents a quart. Fresh coconuts can be purchased in places at 10 cents and a shilling each. We have a lot of $2.95 shoes on sale for the week of the Exposition. NEW METHOD SPOE E. J. O'NEILL.

DOONAN SAYS HE'S ACHED ALL OVER
Lost Lots of Time Because of Rheumatism But Hasn't A Sign of It Left Now.
"Tanlac set me right three years ago and did such a good job on it that I am still feeling better. I had it so bad in my right arm that I was laid up for a whole week at one time. I was also bothered a lot with stomach trouble and indigestion. My appetite was very poor. I never slept well, and got up mornings more tired than on going to bed. My energy all seemed to leave me, and I was easily tired out. My wife had been keeping up with the Tanlac testimonials and bought me two bottles of the medicine. These did me so much good that I kept right on until I had taken six and then I was in fine shape. The rheumatism vanished, my appetite came back, and all signs of indigestion left me, and I am feeling as well today as I could wish to feel. I don't believe anybody troubled like I was can take Tanlac without being helped."

Best in Music Is Offered at Festival Here

Best musical talent in voice, piano, violin and cello from the state, are to be heard at the annual musical festival which is being held at the Janesville Y. M. C. A. building, Saturday afternoon, Oct. 29. The program of the festival is a musical festival wholly delightful and unique. Seldom are artists of such high ability drawn together in one program and music lovers from all over the state are invited to attend. The festival is a rare opportunity of seeing the unusual talent displayed at the Janesville school concert.

Mrs. Charles Penlon, representing the Waukesha Musical club, with a fine soprano voice, coupled with her strong personality, has made the hit of the festival and was rewarded with much great warmth during her afternoon appearance. She was urged to give a few numbers in the evening, thus adding much to the enjoyment of those who had been unable to attend in the afternoon. Her charmingly simple and expressive voice was a range of the different types of songs, some being of strong, dramatic intensity and others light, airy and humorous. Her concert was a number of people would go credit to a professional performer.

Miss Given Plaudits
A trio of local musicians, Mrs. W. T. Penlon, Mrs. Eber Arthur and Mr. Eber Arthur on the piano, violin and cello respectively, won much applause from the afternoon audience. Their years of practice in their instruments was shown in the skill with which they played and in the harmony they produced.

Miss Parker's Warm Greeting!
Another local musician, Miss Virginia Parker, pianist, appeared on the evening program and was warmly greeted by the audience. Her playing was in the most difficult passages. As an encore she played one of MacDowell's songs. Miss Parker is now studying piano at the Chicago Conservatory of Music and is a young artist of great promise. She represented the Junior department of the MacDowell club.

Mrs. Louise Jones showed unusual talent at the piano and as a composer when she appeared in the afternoon program playing three of her own compositions, one of which, "The Spectator," was dedicated to her former teacher, Mrs. J. F. Sweeney.

Mrs. Lynda Jones Huber, Racine, showed unusual range of voice in her songs given in the evening. While singing some songs of the swift and light type, she also showed much dramatic ability and range of voice in singing the slower type of song, "Deep River," a noted negro spiritual song.

AT THE THEATRES

Pearl Rich, pianist of the Myers theatre orchestra, received a great ovation Thursday night when she appeared in the program of "Ivory Manipulations." Mrs. Rich has not been with the orchestra long, but in the time that she has played she has won instant popularity with the Myers patrons. The applause accorded her was a fine example of the appreciation of a new talent.

Two Crawford—Featuring a slack wire performance and a dancing act upon a swinging bar.
Francis & Fay—Pretty and dainty dancing act giving Chinese and gypsy dances and the sailor's horripole.

Footville—S. J. Strang and daughter, Miss Dottie Strang, motored from Janesville, and were callers at the Melvin Shipman home Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Shipman returned with them for a few days' visit at the Strang home. The concert given at the 3d E. church Monday night was fine. A crowded house greeted the musicians—Miss Ella Little, Albany, who spent a few days with her mother and sister Mrs. Beach and Miss Strang, returned home Monday night, accompanied by Mrs. Strang. Mrs. Emily Spurr spent Sunday in Madison with her sister, Miss Nettie Horton. Mrs. Genevieve Moohan went to Beloit Wednesday, called there by the death of her uncle, John Moohan, who passed away at his home in that city Tuesday night. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Long and George Gosh spent Tuesday in Janesville. Mrs. Thomas Heron spent Wednesday afternoon with her daughter, Mrs. Harry Wolfe. Mrs. Edmund Stevens returned Monday from Baraboo, having spent the week-end with her daughter, Kathryn, who is teaching in the high school in that city, and who celebrated her 21st birthday Sunday. crazy calluses will be the official garb of 100 couples expected to attend the annual Halloween and hard times party of the Lakota club at Terpsichorean hall Monday night. Boyd Hill's orchestra of Madison will furnish the music.
According to advance information—In Abe Martin—sent out by Dr. Irving Clark, chairman, the committee members are working hard. He "sez": "George Sherman and Ralph Morse were sent scouting 'round after older and doughnuts. Folks sez it's for the evening of Oct. 31. Mark Clark drove to town yesterday to live up the Terpsichorean hall. Must be some to be a big time."
The affair marks the opening of the Lakota club's 1921-22 social season. The next big function will be the annual Christmas party, Dec. 16, for which committees have been appointed.

YOUTH GETS FIVE YEARS IN PRISON AS AUTO THIEF
Milwaukee—Washington P. McGary, Chicago, who surrendered after a sensational escape from the county hospital, must serve five years in the state penitentiary at Waupun for the theft of an automobile.
This was decided by Circuit Judge John Gregory late Thursday after the case had been removed from the hands of Judge A. C. Backus on an affidavit of prejudice.
George Mackoon, 17, Chicago, an alleged accomplice of McGary, was sentenced to two years in the state reformatory at Green Bay, despite the pleas of his mother.

Blues Await Monroe--Badgers Change Line for Gophers

LOCAL BOYS LOOK FOR BIG BATTLE FROM VISITORS

When the Janesville high school squad answers the whistle for kickoff at 2:30 Saturday afternoon in the fair grounds here, against Monroe, the squad will enter the fray realizing that they are pitted against a worthy enemy. While the dope would seem to indicate victory for the Blues, as much as Port Arthur triumphed over the Green County outfit and Janesville walloped the Port, yet scores in football are such an un-known quantity that the locals will disregard everything but the one thought—play hard and win.

Monroe is a fast aggregation. That they have a great amount of speed and strength was indicated in their victory of 38 to 0 over Warren, Ill. They are coming here with a determination to dirty Janesville's slate which so far has been clean with victories.

The largest crowd so far this season is expected to crowd the sidelines to root for the home team. Monroe is bringing a good aggregation.

The Blues have been put through hard work all this week. Scrimmaging and passing has smoothed some more of the rough edges. The plan of attack has been changed a bit to meet Monroe's fast quarterback and halfback.

Officials have not yet been selected.

Richards May Use Passing Game Saturday

(Special to the Gazette.)
Madison.—The last scrimmage before the game with the Gophers Saturday was held Thursday. There will be setting up exercises and signal practice Friday. Richards' was not in a very good mood and all of the players were scolded for their faults and weaknesses. He does not share in the opinion that Wisconsin should win easily.

Oss, Minnesota's star half-back, will watch the game from the side lines in a wheel chair.

The forward wall of the Badgers will be given the heaviest attack. If they are able to stop the famous Minnesota shift they should be able to open holes for the fast backs of Wisconsin.

Several of Richards' tricks will be displayed. This week he has been working with the forward pass and an outside kick would not be unexpected. A great effort has been made to discover a place kicker. Remembering the fact that Wisconsin won last year by a drop kick, Gill may be sent in the Badgers' gun in a striking distance.

Gibson's injury while not of a serious nature, is painful. He may get in for a few minutes but Stollie Williams seems to be a sure winner at the center for many open formation plays and how will either pass or make a sweeping end run. Gould's defensive playing will be missed as on but he will be a tower of strength at half. Elliott and Sundt are both in good shape and should be among the praiseworthy performers of the day. Irish, Horne or Carlson will be started at left end. The rest of the line will be the same as was started last week.

All seats for this game have been sold. There will be about 25,000 people at the game. The new concrete stands are finished and this makes room for an additional 4,000. A pep meeting followed by a huge bonfire on the lower campus will start the festivities of Homecoming Friday night. A special train load of root-

Formidable Badger Squad Ready to Wallop Gophers

Madison.—Wisconsin expects its eleven to be as formidable as any that ever fought for the Cardinal when it meets Minnesota here Saturday in the annual Badger homecoming game. A heavy schedule has put the Badgers in better condition to meet their old rivals on a footing regarded here as specially favorable to victory.

The fact that the Minnesota team is always in trim to put up a stiff fight against its traditional Wisconsin athletic enemies lends particular interest to an encounter which will have a direct bearing on the Badgers' championship hopes.

With Arnold Oss out of the game, indications are that the spectacular field work will be shown by the Backs, Elliott and Williams, whose powerful offensive playing has been a feature of Wisconsin's game.

After Gopher Line
These men, with Captain Sundt at fullback, Gibson at quarterback and Rebell and Gould at ends, makes up the line of the Badgers. The Minnesota team will make the trip to Janesville Saturday morning and will stir up a little more rivalry.

team last year was only able to come off with the victory end of a 3 to 0 score against the comparatively weak Gophers leads the students and team here to look for an especially hard fought contest.

GIBSON IS OUT; ROLLIE AT QUARTER.

Madison.—The Wisconsin football team will probably be crippled when it meets the Minnesota eleven here Saturday for the Badgers' annual homecoming game, it appeared Friday when it was announced that Gibson, Cardinal quarterback, would not be able to open the game.

Wisconsin's defense will be weakened by forcing Williams to quarter back, Wood, a substitute, to half back, leaving Gould at end. After conclusive victories over both Northwestern and Illinois, the Badgers are confident that they will be able to down Minnesota, without their regular pilot.

A record attendance of 23,500 is assured for the contest.

NORTHWESTERN FACES DE PAUL SATURDAY
Chicago.—Northwestern university's football eleven faces the strong De Paul team of Chicago Saturday at Northwestern field, and one of the largest crowds of the season is expected. Head Coach McDewitt will put most of the regulars on the field, save those who are laid up with injuries and will probably try some new plays which the Purple have been rehearsing.

Japanese Delegates Arrive in Washington for Arms Parley

One of the most important delegations which will attend the disarmament conference is the Japanese group. Japan, because of its position in the Pacific and the far east, and its need for a large navy to protect itself, will play an important part in the conference and its results. The Pacific and far east questions will be given as much prominence as the disarmament features at the conference, experts believe. Three of the delegation, which will number 200 persons, are shown above as they arrived in Washington.

Larger Dollar Value in Truck Mileage

Your hauling and delivery cost must be kept to the absolute minimum. The truck you use must give you full value for your dollar.

Samson trucks are designed and built to give you the utmost in transportation value. Their original cost is small. Their operating cost is exceedingly low.

Samson trucks have many exclusive features of construction that make them extremely well adapted for country and city hauling and delivery work.

The location of the driver's seat gives an extra long, low hung frame with one-third more loading space for bulky loads and an even distribution of the weight over all four wheels. This feature eliminates undue strain—insures a longer life to both truck and tires. Each added mile of service saves you money. The same size pneumatic tires are used throughout. This means tire economy.

Samson trucks can be fitted with extension rims which increase traction. You will find them ready to do your work the year around no matter what the road conditions may be.

Improved Samson trucks can now be furnished with the highest type electric lighting and starting system. Day and night service will lower your truck costs by increased use.

This is your opportunity to test the new value of a dollar, both in original cost and operating cost.

Our new plan of financing your truck purchase gives you an opportunity to pay for your truck while you use it. You have a year in which to pay.

Call on us for a demonstration of new value of the dollar in ton miles.

LATEST NEWS AND CLOSING MARKETS

GRAIN

Chicago Review.
Chicago.—Moderate strength developed in the wheat market as a result of the settlement of the threatened strike of railroad employees. Buying, however, was not of an aggressive character, and offerings increased on the upturn in price. Bears contended that higher values would be difficult to attain pending the removal of export restriction. Opening quotations, which varied from unchanged to 1/2c higher, with December at $1.37 to $1.47, and May at $1.18 to $1.28, were followed by numerous changes within the initial range. Subsequently demand broadened out and the market took a much more decided upward swing. The close was unsettled, 1 1/2c to 1c higher, with December at $1.43 to $1.53, and May at $1.23 to $1.33.

Corn and oats paralleled the action of wheat. Corn opened at 47c higher, at 53c, and later eased off somewhat. Unfavorable husking returns from Illinois tended to increase bullish sentiment later. The close was firm, 1/2c to 1c higher, May 54c to 54 1/2c.

Oats started 1/2c up; December 37 1/2c, but then underwent some change of a setback.

Provisions were lower in line with hogs.

Cooperation of Business With Farmer Asked

Chicago. — Cooperation between the farmer and the business man is the essential need in renewing prosperity, J. R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau, told the Chicago Association of Commerce Friday.

"I believe we now are in the dark hours of morning," he said, "and it is time for us to get up and light our lanterns, whether we are farmers or manufacturers or businessmen."

"We want to get the chores done. It is going to take the energy and faith of the farmer, combined with that of the American businessman to put it over. I ask you to join with us in the recession toward national prosperity."

The second phase of the farmers' plans for the coming year in distribution of their products has been completed, the American Farm Bureau Federation announced Friday.

The plan will be submitted for ratification to the national conference of livestock producers in Chicago, Nov. 30.

The plan recommends organization of a national livestock producers' organization; the establishment at the terminal markets of producers' cooperatives; strengthening of the local cooperative livestock shipping association movement; working out of an orderly marketing program; and the establishment of a transportation cooperative with the federation and state farm bureaus.

SHERIFF HOLDS TWO FOR JOURNEY NORTH

With two prisoners already sentenced, Sheriff Cash Whipple is waiting sentence on two other prisoners in the county jail, before taking prisoners to the state penal institutions.

Al Marcus, Beloit, was committed to the jail on Thursday night for having been sentenced by Judge John Clark to Beloit to two years in Vaucluse for passing a worthless check.

Walter Brockhaus, Milwaukee, was sentenced in Janesville to two years in Green Bay reformatory for grand larceny.

Ernest Krueger is to be tried in Janesville for grand larceny and Caradine Rouch is to have a hearing in Beloit November 3 on a complaint charging forgery.

CHRISTMAS IN JAIL FOR "MOON" DRINKER

Arrested in a restaurant here, late Thursday night, with a half-gallon bottle less than half full of moonshine, Axel J. Ford and George Haugen, both 28, farmers living north of Edgerton, were each fined $100 and costs by Judge H. L. Maxwell, Friday.

"These moonshiners have been getting off too easy," said the court.

Republicans of State Issue Call to Service; Convention on Feb. 22

The call to republicans of the state of Wisconsin issued by the Committee of 44 is also a statement of principles and a setting forth of reasons why the action is made necessary by conditions in Wisconsin.

The text of the call follows: To the people of Wisconsin: There is hereby called a statewide republican conference to be held at Milwaukee on the twenty-second day of February, 1932, for the purpose of considering and endorsing candidates for United States senator and state officers in the ensuing September election; and for the purpose of formulating a platform and adopting plans for a permanent, constructive, republican organization.

The forces of destructive radicalism are striving for ascendancy in the state. These forces threaten to secure complete control, now partly accomplished, of the administrative and legislative departments of the state. They are organizing by class appeal, by misrepresentation of American institutions of government, by pandering to special interests, by creating drawing together under a common leadership the elements of unrest.

The N. P. League Scored. The paid organizers, agitators of the nonpartisan league, bolsheviks, communists, I. W. W.'s and socialists have joined hands to weld these forces into a single organization with a single program and a single leadership. The appointed masters of the nonpartisan league, to perpetrate in Wisconsin the ruin they have wrought in North Dakota.

Through this false leadership, the forces of destructive radicalism, the nonpartisan league and similar un-American organizations without such organizations upon American institutions.

The zero hour is at hand. Delay or indifference spells surrender. If the menace of destructive radicalism is to be met successfully in this state, it must be by organized forces advancing under the banner of the republican party as the dominant political party in the state and the force of constructive progress in the state and nation.

We adhere to these principles as correct guides for political action: That it is the first duty of American citizenship to champion and defend the American system of constitutional government as the most enlightened, just and progressive system of self-government.

That all class appeal, all demand for special privileges or favoritism for classes or individuals in politics or government and all schemes for class or group or individual domination of the people, whether under the names of socialism, bolshevism, communism, or whatever names, constitute a menace to the future of our country.

That there should be frank acknowledgment that inequalities and injustices exist affecting the economic, social and political welfare of the people, and determination that we as citizens, not as a self-serving group or class, should take measures to understand and eradicate the causes of just criticism and discontent by active, intelligent and effective participation in politics and government.

That, under our system of government, the political party is a necessary instrument for effective expression of the principles and policies upon which its membership is organized; that without such organization, the highest objects of government are impossible.

That the highest objects of government include: The best welfare of the whole people; equal protection for the inherent rights of citizens; equality of opportunity for all citizens to improve their conditions of life and to participate in their government; and ample security.

against the domination of government by any class or individual. That these and all other proper objects of government can be attained most readily and most permanently by the orderly procedure established under our constitutional system to meet changing conditions and to serve new public policies.

No great progress in government is possible; that the promise of better government lies in the ascendancy and full responsibility of that party which achieves genuine progress; that all schemes tending to restrain or pervert the orderly procedure of government are destructive of party responsibility and hence contrary to public welfare.

Must Be Progressive. That the republican party in Wisconsin is and should be overwhelmingly and constructively progressive; that democracy in party is as vicious as autocracy in government; that the great body of electors constituting the party can and should, without dictation, determine its policies and select its leadership, which shall be responsible to the party for the faithful execution of its determined policies.

Let there be chosen in each county in the state, to attend the republican state conference hereby called, one delegate and one alternate for each 500 votes or major fraction thereof cast therein for the republican presidential elector receiving the highest number of votes in the last presidential election. Such delegates and alternates shall be chosen by ballot in county conventions which shall be called and held during the second week of February, 1932.

Let the qualified electors in each county, who subscribe to the foregoing principles, form in each county a republican organization, which will promote and secure the calling and holding of such county conventions and assure that the same will be free, open and representative.

Let the proper officers of such organizations in the several counties duly certify to the executive committee of this meeting the names of the delegates and alternates chosen by their several county conventions. Let the executive committee of this meeting be authorized to act as a committee on credentials and to make up from credentials submitted to them a temporary roll of state conference subject to approval or modification by the state conference.

We call upon all citizens, regardless of past party or factional affiliations, to join forces in the republican primary and the general election in support of these principles and of this undertaking to the end that the menace of destructive radicalism may be averted in this state.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Millers Entertainment.—Mr. and Mrs. Irving Miller, 317 Caroline street, gave a Halloween party Thursday night. Goblins and black cats gave a weird appearance to the home. Beautifully colored flowers were used in decorating. At cards, the prizes were taken by Mrs. R. K. Brown and C. K. Ertson. A lunch was served at midnight at small tables. Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Gates and Mrs. M. Johnston, Beloit, were out of town guests.

Bonitas Meet.—The Bonita club met Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Frank Phaherty, Logansport street. The members took their sewing and spent a social evening. The hostess served a lunch at ten o'clock.

Many Attend Supper.—About 50 people from this city attended the chicken pie supper served by the Presbyterian church of Rock Prairie Thursday night. These suppers are noted in the city and always draw a good crowd.

To Meet Monday.—Mrs. Fred Capelle, South Third street, will entertain the members of the Congregational Twenty club Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Solie Has Club.—Mrs. S. S. Solie, Racine street, was hostess Wednesday to a club of eight young women who meet every two weeks for game of bridge. The first meeting, with Mrs. Solie, was spent in sewing. A luncheon preceded the sewing.

Mrs. Martin Surprised.—Mrs. Francis J. Martin, 715 School street, was given a surprise party Thursday night by 20 of her friends, who arrived, bringing their supper and baskets filled with canned fruit and jelly to add to the winter supply of Mr. and Mrs. Martin, who were married in September. Cards and different sorts were the amusements for the evening. Supper was served at ten o'clock.

OUT OF WORK, BUT~

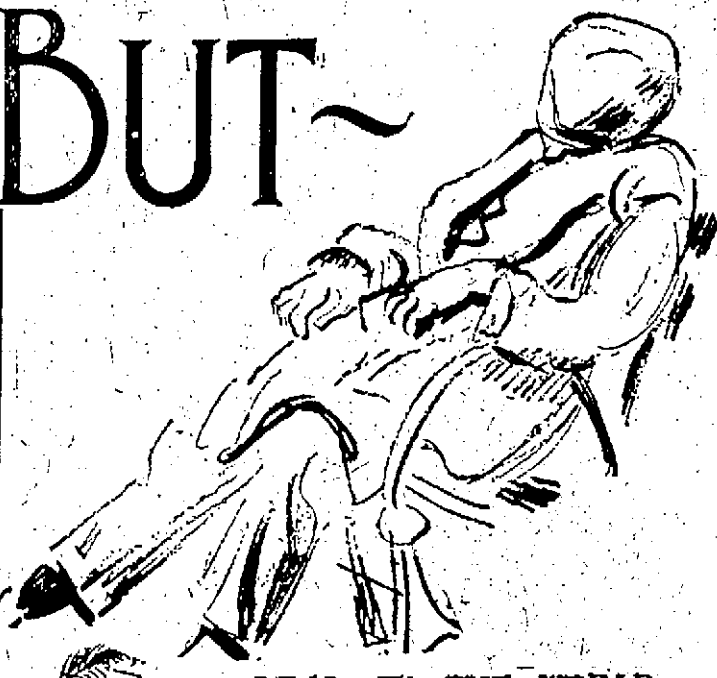

SCANDALS

LIL' GAME OF "SNAP"

WILL THE SUN SPROUT UP A NEW CROP? SEEKING BEAUTY IS ALWAYS A JOB

DEAD TO THE WORLD

Is it the worker's fault that he is out of a job? No. At least, in most cases it isn't his fault or his employer's either. Each probably has done the best he could to keep the wheels turning, but conditions—conditions with a big C—are adverse. Conditions are as hard now as they were soft in Hog Island times.

The thing that went up has come down. We've got to take conditions as they are and make the best of them. And, as no one is to blame, let no one get foolishly blue and attribute his joblessness to his own demerit. Let him adjust himself to his circumstances and instead of gnawing the file, let him go to the gnaw with his other obligations. Instead of reading Dickens' "Hard Times," let him dust off "Pickwick" and enjoy himself. Clean-up week is just over, but now is a good chance for the jobless one, whether a man or a woman, to do the things usually left undone for lack of time. We often hear a busy fellow say: "I'd give a thousand dollars if I could spend a month where I lived when a boy," or "You bet I appreciate this beautiful country around the city, but I never have a day to spare to take it in." This, then, is the opportunity for those out of work to renew acquaintances with the country, the park and the nearby haunts. It is the opportunity to hunt up old friends, mend neglected social fences, weed one's literary garden and broaden one's interests necessarily narrowed by the exacting duties of life and its treadmill routine.

This suggestion, as to broadening leads to a little thought somewhat akin to it. Why shouldn't one who sits on a park bench do a little thinking, too? This is a good time to think over the other fellow's sins as well as one's own. Whose fault is it that taxes are constantly going up? Is it altogether the other fellow's? Who put him into power? Wasn't it you yourself or your equally careless or indifferent or particular friends? How can you expect to have good public service from a man you wouldn't employ in your private business? There is hardly a city that is clean in spite of our boasted scientific ways and of the good money spent for just ordinary sanitation. No time to look into these matters? Well, now you're time to look into city, state and national affairs. They're very interesting—fascinating indeed. Oh, there's lots to think of.

And while we are thinking of doing a little thinking we come to one aspect of the present season of unemployment that makes it different from former times of the same sort. Despite the appalling figures of people who are idle in the various centers, the soup line and the bread line have so far not been conspicuous. This is undoubtedly because, during the time the golden geese, now defunct, were busy laying, the beneficiaries of their industry were learning to save. Not all of us saved and some of us have already sold our Liberty Bonds and blown the proceeds, yet the habit was started. A great deal that was never known before was learned about banks and bonds, and the methods of making money work, and now that we are spending what we saved we are wanting to know how comes the phenomenon.

Another thing the people were educated to think about during the past few years is that there would be a full in the production field, and that when it came everybody should be prepared for the storm and strife of the readjustment period.

It is making us all think. And, fortunately, much of the thinking is in the right direction—that is, it is logical and will lead somewhere. Fortunately, with the sprinkling of agitators and the great mass of people were more convinced of the impossibility of such wild dreams as are now being tried out in Russia, and it is the lament, audibly expressed, of the Bolshevik and other old world radicals that America is the most conservative of all the civilized countries on the face of the globe.

We know how to think much better than we used to and with no slightest thought of trying any of the radical recipes, the common people of the country are beginning to see our relations to the other nations of the earth. They see these things clearly enough to be able to thwart both radicalism and the machinations of special privilege. They are getting ex-

∴ Landlady Discourses on Why Boarders Yell ∴

A LANDLADY'S troubles are many, especially with her women boarders. I had always thought women unfairly discriminated against till I proceeded to find out why.

"Why are they so unpopular?" I asked a boardinghouse keeper of my acquaintance.

"It's because they're kinder mean," she answered. "It's not the unjust explanation that we naturally prefer men. We do. Why?"

"I'll give you a list of reasons. In the first place men don't leave on electric irons and curlers because

Tibet Is High

Although within the past two decades the mystery concerning Tibet has been mostly dissipated as a result of the English invasion, the curious nature of that country still excites great interest. Think of an inhabited land covering between 750,000 and 800,000 square miles, and having a mean elevation exceeding 16,400 feet, which is considerably higher than Mont Blanc! The loftiest peaks reach an altitude of about 29,000 feet, while the deepest valleys, in the higher parts of the plateau, do not descend below 14,000 feet, which is higher than Pike's Peak. Toward the south the valleys sink lower and rice and fruit are cultivated up to 11,500 feet. Here the most important centers of population are found in Lassa Shigatse and Gyantze. Their heads are so full of the beauties going to take them to the movies they can't remember anything else.

"A little fool, nearly burned down my house the other day. I came upstairs after dinner. A strange scorching smoke was coming out of her room. I went in. The iron was red hot and the wooden board about to burst into flames.

Men may throw lighted cigarettes into scrap baskets, but the chances are nine out of ten they remember to put them out.

"Another thing a man doesn't do is wash his handkerchiefs the day after you cleaned the windows. My lady goes on the privilege of suddenly making up her mind. She has discovered that drying them on glass panes saves ironing. The smears she leaves behind her don't worry her young heart. A girl is trained in petty economics. She continually has a string of pretties and damp silk stockings dangling about.

Here's the Soap Fiend.

"A man just chucks his clothes in a bundle and carries them to a free mending laundry.

"Then women's whims are an unending trial. I had a soap fiend once. She must have eaten soap. Whenever I was busiest I could count on that woman coming into the kitchen. I hear her whining in my nightmare yet, 'May I have a piece of soap, please?'

"Another girl used to wash her hair at 5 p. m. every Saturday afternoon. The fact that everybody was dressing for dinner and wanted a bath didn't occur to her. The click of the bathroom key behind her was a private signal for a lot of soft-whispered bad language. When I finally requested her to change the hour of her operations she was offended.

"I don't know whether women are born or bred mean. Mind, I'm not saying they're all like this. I'm only giving you some of the reasons why women are unpopular with lodging-house keepers. Some of the nicest tenants I have ever had have been women.

"I think the root of the evil lies in their training. A man is educated to take what he wants. A woman to get what she can. That's probably why so many of them are lazy and untidy once they have the chance to make someone else work for them. You'd be surprised how much dirtier they are than men. Some of the business women I've had kept everything in a pile on the floor. They were supposed to make their own beds, but I couldn't stand their not turning the mattresses."

Decorations Were Wrong.

The feminine instinct makes women do queer and illogical tricks. Another landlady near a university had a most amusing experience with a sorority. She rented them her front parlor and all went with delightful smoothness until they gave them Spring tea.

The decoration committee had a hard proposition. The parlor was brown, brown paper, brown photographs, on the brown paper, brown mission study furniture, and brown curtains in the doorway. The only detail that deviated from the general brown color scheme was a jade green reading lamp, the ugliest gas lamp that ever came out of the basement of a department store.

The girls had put in sofa cushions and dollies, but still the parlor remained severely brown. They decided to bank it with flowers. One of the members had a brilliant idea. She discovered that if she turned the jade green reading lamp upside down it made the loveliest flower vase. The thought was acted upon. The jade green shade overflowed with daffodils. The hideous base was hidden in a cluster of pansies. The patent gas burner was permanently put out of commission. None of the guests recognized the lamp, neither did the landlady when she examined her property at the end of the season.

Were These Flesh and Blood?

"They were nice girls, though," summarized the owner of the injured lamp. "Girls will be girls, as boys are boys."

This same landlady had had a wide experience with sororities. She found some of them model tenants. At one time she had a girls' club in an upstairs room and a fraternity in the second floor back. The young people passed each other constantly in the hall but there was no flirting. One day after a party the girls sent down some tea and cake. On another occasion the boys sent up some ice cream. There the civilities ended.

Emotional women may give a landlady trouble, but a stray couple may land her in the police court. "You can't be too careful," after she had turned away a peculiar looking man and woman who had applied for a room, "but you've got to be tactful if you want to continue in the business."

"A friend of mine set up on Vine street. She was a timid old maid and folks took advantage of her by stuffing her with stories about the neighborhood. She was scared green.

"Every time the doorbell rang she would peep at from behind a tiny crack and say 'I'm a decent woman,' before the other person had a chance to speak. They usually turned round on the doorstep. I don't blame them. 'Some couples' actually got inside the house. 'Have you got your marriage certificate?' was her first question.

"She was surprised when they walked out into the street again. She didn't last in the business more than six weeks."

Must Avoid Meddling.

Another way in which a rooming housekeeper must display tact is in keeping out of other people's affairs. One of them recently told the writer how she avoided being called as witness in a divorce case and incidentally straightened out a complicated family difficulty.

A woman who had been a former lodger came to her and asked her to testify as to her respectability. The defendant's husband was suing for a divorce, which she did not wish to grant. When the couple had boarded with the landlady some years before the wife had been ill. She was decidedly the stoned-against party at the time, but the landlady knew nothing of her record since. The couple came originally from upper New York state. The man was much older and wealthier. The wife, confessed that when they were first married her husband had given her plenty of money to spend. It was the story of a poor girl suddenly becoming extravagant. The husband turned to the other extreme and began buying the woman's clothes and even her food.

"I used to feel sorry for the poor thing at the time," said my informant. "She was weak and needed small dainty dishes to tempt her to eat. He was a big brawny fellow and liked steaks and canned food. He thought she should eat the same. Her mother came down to stay with her and she cooked the little things the girl could swallow. Every day the old lady would have to wring enough money for her marketing out of that man. He hated parting with his money when it came to feeding his wife.

"He used to tell me his troubles. She would come to me, too. I was in a hard position.

Tact Good Motto.

"After they left me the girl said she half starved her. They separated. Finally, she didn't want him to get a divorce, mostly out of spite, I think. I showed her what a fool she'd be. She has a nice little dahlia farm now that keeps her busy and is bringing in good returns. If she gets rid of that grant. When the couple had boarded with the landlady some years before the wife had been ill. She was decidedly the stoned-against party at the

Pity the Poor Bachelor

MY dear, you should have seen the poor darlings' place! You couldn't see the chairs for books and papers, and every cup and saucer had lost its better half. You can see they want looking after badly."

Thus spoke a charming young woman recently who had been invited, with another, to take tea with two bachelor friends of their acquaintance.

I happened to know the rooms she referred to—wide, low-ceilinged, dark and wood-paneled; book-bestrewed, it is true (their owners are studying law and medicine). It is also true that cigarette ash falls as carelessly and lightly all over the place as bon mots, and that the condition of the crockery is—well, about as bad as that prevailing in the average nursery.

Apart from these obvious defects there is no substantial evidence of the "motherlessness" of the bachelor establishment. Peace, plenty and comfort are its household gods.

It is an irritating habit of the average woman, whether married or single, invariably to disparage the bachelor ménage to talk of it, as it were, in a permanent tone of half-mourning.

One must suppose that it is part of the conspiracy of sex. The poor fellow is sufficiently reminded of the awful bleakness of his surroundings, and thoroughly impressed with the fact that he, in his abysmal ignorance, can never hope to better it without feminine aid will doubtless succumb more easily to the lure of a "house" that only a woman, apparently, has the art to create.

Yet it is a strange fact that there is one sight more woeful, more sympathy-inspiring than the lair of the unmarried man; and that (gently let it be whispered) is the "dinky little place" of the bachelor maiden.

Tact should be the rooming housekeeper's motto. She must use it to keep her tenants up to her standards as well as for other emergencies of her business. This is particularly so in the case of students.

"People always say you know what students are," said one woman who keeps a small hat shop, but who helps out by taking in "roomers."

"My boys have always behaved like gentlemen. I only had one come home drunk once. He arrived home about 1 a. m. and went upstairs singing like a lark. He tried to get into all the other fellows' rooms, but they turned him away and put him to bed.

"I didn't say anything to him that night. You can't argue with a drunken man. The next morning I told him what I thought. It never happened again."

Animals Need Furs

Professor Osborn has made a plea for women to cease wearing so-called "summer furs." He said wild animals are being destroyed so rapidly that in 30 years there will be practically none left and the next generation will have to go to a zoological park or look at paintings or photographs for a knowledge of wild animals. Professor Osborn is an exceedingly careful writer and speaker; says the Scientific American, and his warning is amply justified; the senseless wearing of furs in Summer should be abandoned.

"NEGRO" SPEECH IS TALK OF CAPITAL

President Starts Controversy in Birmingham Address on Race Status.

By DAVID LAWRENCE. Copyright 1921, by Jamesville Gazette.

Washington.—President Harding's speech at Birmingham, Ala., advocating political and economic equality for the negro, is the "talk of the town."

Southern democrats privately denounced it and predicted that the hopes of the republican party for a "white republican vote" had been absolutely dashed to the ground. Republicans commended the utterance as Lincolnian. They called it a courageous speech delivered as it was in the heart of the south itself.

Irrespective of the merits of Mr. Harding's doctrine, there are certain interesting aspects to it from a political viewpoint. Republican candidates in the past have spoken of political equality in their campaign speeches without creating much of a ripple. Mr. Harding said virtually the same thing in his presidential campaign as he said at Birmingham. It pleased the negro voters and was hardly commented on at the time. But as president no one has gone quite as far in recent years in handling the negro problem as has Mr. Harding. Theoretically, republicans and democrats have admitted on occasions that true democracy means political equality, but in actual practice, both parties have had their controversies about granting that equality.

G. O. P. Active in South.

For several months the leaders of the republican party have been planning a real campaign to break the democratic hold on the "solid south." Some have advocated that the way to do it is for some statement to be made which would assure the whites in the south that they could vote the republican ticket without fear of negro domination. This has indeed been advocated by those republicans who hailed from the south and who knew that some such utterance was necessary before the whites could be persuaded to desert the democratic standard. On the other hand, northern republicans who have been helped in recent years by the influx of negroes into their congressional districts have feared that such a statement would be regarded as hostile by northern negroes.

Harding in Compromise.

Mr. Harding has tried a compromise. He declares he does not believe in social or racial equality. That's an important statement for a president of the United States to make. But while the south has always insisted on its own right to determine who shall and shall not be considered social equals, the trouble is that the true fear of political equality is that it may lead to social equality. At least the southern democrats here who have made a study of the question declare that the line between political and social equality is too hazy to draw. They argue, moreover, that political equality means the election of colored negroes to rule over whites. Such a status, they add, inevitably carries with it social friction.

Republicans Approve.

Republicans who defended Mr. Harding's speech were vehement in their expressions of approval, pointing out that the president had made a real appeal for a united nation and had not minced words in contending for a genuine and not an imaginary democracy. The fact that the negroes in the audience had applauded and cheered while whites stood silent, as reported in the dispatches from Birmingham, was regarded as of lesser importance than the after-effects of the speech on the minds of people who read and did not hear the utterance. One thing is certain, Mr. Harding has said something that is bound to be the basis for discussion.

AMERICA ON EVE OF GREAT DEVELOPMENT, OPINION OF SCHWAB

Atlantic City, N. J.—Charles M. Schwab, addressing the annual banquet of the National Paint, Oil and Varnish association, Thursday night, said he was not alarmed about business depression.

"We have been on a great business spree, and we are now in the cold gray dawn of the morning after," he said. "The business depression will place us in a firmer, surer position for the future. As long as I can borrow money, I am going to bet every dollar of which I have control on American industry. I believe this great nation of ours is going to be the workshop of the world."

"We are on the eve of the greatest development in our history. If I had to live my life over again, I would choose the present day for beginning a career. We have all learned to live extravagantly but it doesn't mean anything. I don't give a rap for money except insofar as I can use it to circulate it through my plants and develop them."

Discussing industrial conditions, Mr. Schwab said: "Wherever I go, I hear the theme that labor and capital should cooperate, but I have yet to find a man who can tell me how it is to be done."

TRUTONA NOW A BYWORD AMONG COUNTLESS JAMESVILLE PEOPLE

Entire City Fairly Marveling Over Great Tonic's Effectiveness In Overcoming Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bowel Troubles.

"I've tried every medicine I know of but I simply can't get relief from my troubles."

"Have you tried Trutona?"

"No."

"Well, I felt just as you did about the matter until I took Trutona, but I found that it would help me, even though all the rest had failed."

How many conversations, similar in principle if not in detail, have taken place in Jamesville in the past few weeks, we do not know, but judging from the public acknowledgments of scores of local people, it is safe to say that the number has been large. Every day now Jamesville men and women are telling stories of how they gained remarkable relief through Trutona after other medicines failed.

And why is it that Trutona is undoubtedly the most universally accepted meritorious preparation that has been introduced in Wisconsin for many years? There can be but one answer—MERIT. Admittedly publicity brought Trutona to the attention of the people, but merit—proven by the relief given hundreds—has been responsible for the repeat orders to the number of eight and ten bottles from single parties, who realize that they have at last found the long-needed remedy to overcome their health troubles.

Trutona is not a so-called "discovery" but has been scientifically compounded by one of the foremost chemists in the Middle West, as a reconstructive agency, system purifier and body invigorant. At this season, the use of Trutona is particularly recommended. Composed of some of the most effective ingredients known to the medical world, Trutona speedily attacks impurities in the blood, strengthens the nerve centers and thoroughly and efficiently builds up and cleanses the entire system. Acting directly on the mucous membranes, Trutona produces a sharply stimulative, leaving a pleasant and HEALTHFUL tonic condition. It is a strength-builder unsurpassed by any preparation. In short, Trutona is one medicine of REAL merit, which will give you vigor and vitality of the kind that keeps a smile forever on the faces of the healthy man or woman.

Hundreds of bottles of Trutona are now being sold weekly in Jamesville at the PEOPLE'S DRUG STORE. Trutona is sold in Clinton at J. Bodens' Edgerton, Atwell & Dahlman's, Delavan, Murphy & O'Neal's and all good druggists in surrounding towns.
